

33 Oxford Terrace,
Hyde Park
Fudy

My dear Sir,

The portrait, I think, is very nicely done, & will do great credit to the vol. I should recommend you to put below it, —

William Shakespeare. } same letter as before the portrait<sup>with</sup> in the first vol.

From the Folio of 1623.

If the article in The Times did not quite satisfy me, — it was at least gratifying, compared to that in The Athenaeum, which was written, in pure spite to me, by a person devoted to Mr Collins.

In haste,

Very Sincerely Yours,
A Dyce

P.S. I am busy with Julius Caesar; & I must call at your place to find out if Crank's second edition of that play differs from his first.
(I have got only the first)
